

Food and Agriculture
Organization of the United Nations

THE CASE FOR AQUATIC BLUE FOOD IN ACHIEVING SDG 2 (ZERO HUNGER)

Reducing hunger and improving nutrition outcomes

Rebecca Wintering

*Senior Foreign Affairs Officer:
Office of Marine Conservation
US Department of State*

Rebecca is a Senior Foreign Affairs Officer in the Office of Marine Conservation at the U.S. Department of State. She works on international sustainable fisheries management and marine conservation policy across a variety of international fora and bilateral relationships, including at the United Nations, the UN Food and Agriculture Organization, the World Trade Organization, and regional fisheries management organizations. Her particular focus includes issues related to illegal, unreported, and unregulated fishing and the Port State Measures Agreement, fisheries and aquaculture role in food security, fisheries trade, and global and regional ocean processes.

Rebecca joined the State Department as a Presidential Management Fellow and has also served at the U.S. Mission to the UN Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization and in the Office of Natural Resources and Environment at the United States Trade Representative. Rebecca holds a Master of Environmental Science and Management from the Bren School of Environmental Science & Management at the University of California, Santa Barbara and a Bachelor of Arts from Trinity University in San Antonio, Texas.